PHS feet are keeping in step. Feet amble slowly to school in August, but trip lightly when leaving in May. Footsteps are heavy on the way to an important test. Feet in study hall often clomp noisily down the aisle. Teachers' feet walk determinedly to classrooms. The band parades on marching feet. The swift feet of athletes move in a victorious manner. The footsteps of Honor Society inductees are measured. The PHS feet that enter the church for the Maundy Thursday Service step softly. A PHS fellow's footsteps are often nervous enroute to the florist's where he will buy his favorite girl a corsage. The feet of PHS teen-agers weigh heavily on the back of the couch while their owners lengthily converse over the telephone. Yes, PHS footsteps sound different, move in different directions, and walk for different reasons. But one fact is sure: all PHS feet are

"Keeping in Step" Involved 1350 Hours

The razing of the old junior high building adjoining the senior high school left a wall for workmen to repair and a gaping space where the old building had stood for 65 years.

September, 1963 — the opening of a school year which contained a little bit of everything for all of us at PHS. From that first sight of our friends in the fall until that last parting in May, our school life was full of joy, sorrow, anxiety, love, fear, and hope. Our footsteps traced us through times of excitement, distress, confusion, and celebration. They took us to school, football and basketball games, concerts, club inductions, and auditoriums. Of course, there were trips to Ed's candy stand, passes to see the Deans, and those inevitable walks uptown for cokes. The enthusiasm at the football games, the spirit of the group singing at the Christmas auditorium, the satisfaction of putting on a successful Rodeo, and that final graduation day full of mixed emotions—this was our life at PHS as we were "Keeping In Step."

The "lineup" of homeward-bound school buses is a welcome sight to weary students at the end of the day.

Judging by the ecstatic expressions on the faces of these PHS fans, the Tigers must have just scored a touchdown. The unanimously echoed phrase seems to be a lively "Yeaaaaa!"

Of Memorable Classes and Activities

"She loves me, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah" mimic these imitation Beatles at a rousing PHS pep session. Their appearance at the game that night caused quite a stir in both the adult and teen-age sections of the Tig-Arena.

While listening to the daily announcements, Mr. Kenneth Edwards, student teacher of chemistry, glances at the decorated P.A. and reminisces about his own PHS days.

Hoping against hope that her precariously-balanced books don't fall before her "stubborn" lock unwinds itself, Janet Gustafson tries out her new locker combination.

Mr. Delph's P. A. Preview Began Our Days

The footsteps of daily life found us involved in many "odds and ends" of activity. These included drinking cokes in the old canteen, cleaning our lockers at semester's end, working in one of the administrative offices, having absentee slips signed, and buying much-needed pencils and paper. Our time was also spent signing up for buses to away-from-home games, standing around talking to buddies, buying lunch tickets, leaning over the upstairs railings, rushing to get to class on time, and screaming at the pep sessions, especially when the "Beatles" visited us.

The many places we've gone, the many things we've done this wonderful year at PHS, the varied ways our footsteps have taken us both in reality and imagination—these are unforgettable memories as our footsteps continue to mold our way of life.

With an upward, questioning glance, Sally Hemrick seems to convey unspoken thoughts to her "steady," Rick Mooney.

Another period and another attendance pass to collect! Judy King enjoys the routine duties of an office helper.

"What would I do without friends with nickels?" laughs Max Mills as Steve Eder generously lends him the change needed to buy a couple of pencils.

Leaning leisurely over the upstairs railing to view the "floor show" in the main hall are these boys: D. Eckerley, J. Grady, B. Costin, J. Cook, H. Cull, D. DeWitt, P. Cain, J. Flora.

That 3:30 Bell Rang a Welcome Refrain

Because of the tragic November twenty-second death of our President, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Mr. Flora lowers the flag to the half-staff position during the 30-day period of national mourning.

"How did I ever acquire all this mess in just one semester?" thinks Judy Hopper as she desperately engages in "cleaning house."

We Warmly Welcomed Heidi Christiansen

In the fall of 1962, Heidi Christiansen, after interviews and examinations, was notified of her acceptance into the Teenage Exchange Student Program. In May 1963 she learned that she was to become a foreign exchange student at PHS. Heidi is PHS's second exchange student, the first being a boy from Germany in 1957.

AN OPEN LETTER TO PHS STUDENTS:

An dieser Stelle moechte ich allen Gliedern der Peru High Schule, besonders Mr. Delph, herzlich fuer ein sehr schoenes Jahr danken. Ich weiss, dass ich es nie vergessen werde. Mein besonderer Dank gilt Pastor Gary Allbritten, der mir in seiner Familie ein Heim gegeben hat, und somit auch ein Heim in Amerika.

Die Zeit hier hat fuer mich sehr grossen.....

At this time I want to thank all members of Peru High School and the School Board, especially Mr. Delph, for their help to make this year most wonderful for me. I can assure you that I will never forget it. My special thanks are to the Allbrittens, who gave me a home in their family and therefore a home in America.

The time here was so valuable to me for I got to know the American every-day-life and how it affects the thinking of the people. I have not only learned to think in English but to think as an American. At the same time however I noticed how much my home-country formed me and that I cannot and do not want to withdraw from its influence.

I hope very much that the Youth For Understanding Teenage Exchange Program wins more popularity in order that students from PHS can go abroad and that other exchange students get the privilege of becoming a member of PHS.

Heidi Christiansen

In becoming acquainted with her new school, Heidi learned even about the print shop. Here Nate Marburger shows her how he and the other boys print the Peruvian.

And Ten Eager (?) New Faculty Members

These new teachers gather informally in the lounge. Miss Rita Lone, Mrs. Jean Rose, Mrs. Nan Speck, Miss Julie Scheerer, Mrs. Mary Ann Sullivan, Mr. Bruce Milburn, Mr. Al Martinez, Mr. Virgil Graber, Mr. Paul Hahn, Mr. Brooks Harting.

Paul D. Hahn

"El Presidente Lyndon Johnson," reads the cover of the Spanish language edition of Life magazine. Mr. Martinez, PHS Spanish teacher, spends a quiet evening at home reading.

Mr. Wayne Taylor and Mr. Jess Dice, art and chemistry teachers, respectively, are so far away from the official teachers' lounge that they have made one for themselves—in the boiler room. Their environment: coffee, congestion, companionship.

Our Queens and Courts Kept In Step

Homecoming is a time of year to be remembered by the entire student body, but to be remembered especially by the Queen and her court. Missy Cole occupied the throne, sharing her honors with Janice English, Vicki Crowden, and Linda Claybaugh. The court enhanced an already exciting occasion by their beauty and smiling reign.

Even the game was exciting, as Peru beat Rochester by two touchdowns. A colorful halftime show included many floats entered by clubs and homerooms. Mr. Brooks Harting's homeroom took first-place prize for the best homeroom entry, and the Industrial Club captured the first place award for the best club entry.

The big night, the big game, and the beautiful court. Senior Queen Missy Cole, maid of honor Janice English junior attendant Vicki Crowden, and sophomore attendant Linda Claybaugh headed the list of hit attractions.

Reigning Over the Rodeo, Homecoming

Beauty, glamour, grace, charm, splendor, and radiance—all were a part of the 1963-64 Rodeo over which the Queen and her court reigned. One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of this court and the crowning of the Queen. Student Body President Jeff Henry did the honors.

The show was opened by the reading of a telegram from Cole Porter expressing his appreciation for an invitation to the Hoosier performance. He could not attend because he was vacationing in California.

"An Evening with Cole Porter" turned out to be a great show before a full house both Friday and Saturday nights. All the music for the show was written by Mr. Porter, a native Peruvian. A few of the selectons included "In the Still of the Night," "Don't Fence Me In," "I Hate Men!" "Too Darn Hot," and "Old-Fashioned Garden."

Rodeo Queen Judy Nelp favors a special member of the audience with a smile as she proceeds to her chair of honor.

Juniors, Seniors Drew Full Houses

Besides the evening play practices, many hours of planning must take place for a successful production. Talking over "behind the scenes" problems are Mr. Brooks Harting, assistant director; Louise Schini, Judy Hopper, and Ron Bowland, student directors; Jayne Evans, dance choreographer; Mr. Thomas Feit, play director, and Mr. James Noble, music director.

This PHS production was original in two respects. "Bye Bye, Birdie" was the first musical comedy done at PHS as far back as memory goes. Secondly, this year's play was a joint effort of the junior and senior classes, instead of the usual separate productions.

The story concerns Conrad Birdie, probably more popular than Elvis Presley ever hoped to be (and the spitting image of Elvis, besides), who is about to be drafted into the army. His manager, Albert Peterson, decides that Conrad will leave his musical profession with the greatest send-off ever, and so he, along with a flock of followers, visits Sweet Apple, Ohio, where at nationally-televised ceremonies, he will give Kim MacAfee "One Last Kiss."

The jealousy in Hugo, Kim's boy friend, and the constant interference from Albert's mother, help provide many hilarious antics.

"Are you ready?" asks Conrad Birdie (Darwin Harding), the teen-age singing idol, of Kim MacAfee (Sue Adkins), who has been selected out of all the Conrad fans to bid him the last goodbye before he is drafted into the army. Jealous Hugo Peabody (Allen Denny), Kim's boyfriend, threatens to harm Conrad as Albert Peterson (John Allbritten), Conrad's song writer, attempts to stop Hugo's rash act and Rose Alvarez (Missy Cole), Albert's secretary, looks on in horror.

Demonstrating a hitherto unknown talent, Mr. Philip Fox, publicity chairman for "Bye Bye, Birdie," picks out a few chords on Birdie's guitar during an early practice session.

With "Bye Bye, Birdie" Production

"Bye Bye, Birdie," a Broadway musical, was presented Friday and Saturday nights, April 24th and 25th. The music for this production was played by the stage band and special accompanists.

Hit songs in the play included "Put on a Happy Face," "One Last Kiss," "What Did I Ever See In Him," "How Lovely to Be a Woman," "One Boy," "Kids," and "Baby, Talk to Me."

The profits were divided between the junior and senior classes. The juniors used their money for the Junior-Senior Prom, and the seniors used theirs for the traditional senior gift to the school.

"Outside my window three harpies shrieked, 'We love you, Conrad,' four thousand seven hundred and twenty three times! I've had enough!" shouts Mr. MacAfee (Ron Bowland) to his pleading daughter Kim (Joyce Zerbe) as Mrs. MacAfee (Lindsay Hagen) listens attentively to her husband's complaint.

Assembling at Pennsylvania Station in New York City a group of fans bid Conrad Birdie (Darwin Harding) goodbye, as he prepares to leave for Sweet Apple, Ohio, to give Kim MacAfee their symbolic one last kiss. In the impromptu news conference that develops at the station, Albert Peterson (John Allbritten) and Rose Alvarez (Missy Cole) join in singing "A Healthy Normal American Boy."

Our 1963 Rodeo Honored Cole Porter

"Be a Clown! Be a Clown!" sing the five cheerleaders: Beverly Black, Clo Giver, Joe Beauchamp (back to camera), Nancy Smith, and Susie Hilgeman, in their act in a very successful Rodeo.

A trio of pert, pretty PHS girls—Liz Rommelfanger, Susie Adkins, and Abby Taylor—sing the well-known, well-loved Porter hit, "Old-Fashioned Garden."

Some members of the publications staff do more than just sit around the office with their feet on the desks. A few students got together a skit for the Rodeo which included this scene with Lee Ann Fishback and Jean Wallace.

Capable Officers Headed Student Body

Eyeing each other's posters, the candidates for Student Body President — Jack Langdon, Nancy Reineke, DeRees Clark, and Darryl Jordan —display their favorite campaign literature.

Adding notice of coming events to the Ralph Poff memorial bulletin board, Vice-president Darryl Jordan is assisted by the other Student Body officers: Bunny Pier, treasurer; Jeff Henry, president; Beverly Black, secretary, and John Allbritten, sergeant-at-arms.

Elections were a big part of student life. The first few months of our busy year were filled with campaigning: decorating cars, making original signs, playing in an amateur band, and giving final speeches before the student body. All these efforts ended in the final election of a Student Body president and the various class officers.

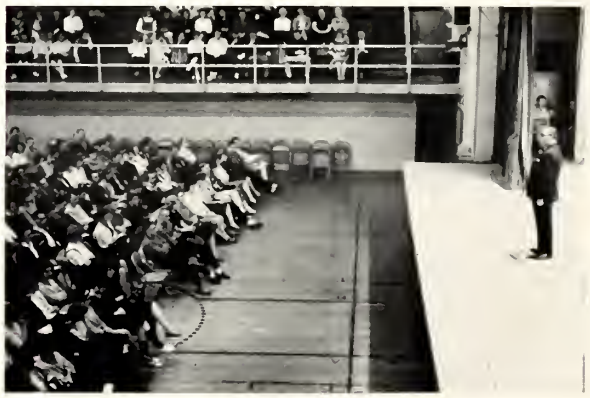
"Congratulations to us all!" says DeWayne Buzbee, junior class president, to Leroy Pope, senior class president, as Jeff Nelp, sophomore class president, joins them outside the Student Council chamber. Each will represent his class on the Council.

Special Occasions Enhanced Our Year

During the football games the popularity of the concessions stand rivaled that of the field itself. Candy, hotdogs, coffee, and popcorn were some of the advertised wares.

Buying refreshments at football and basketball games; admiring the art pictures at PHS, truly an art gallery; hearing the Band, Belles, and Choir give another marvelous concert, both at Christmas and in the spring; getting ice cream and an assortment of food at noon; screaming "our heads off' at the pep sessions and at the games that followed—our life at PHS was full of fun and excitement from start to finish.

This balcony view of an assembly shows students attentively listening to Fred Lowery, the Blind Whistler, who presented one of our auditoriums. Many seniors remembered his being here in their freshman year.



"Let's twist again." Couples energetically join in the dance at the Boys' League Sweater Hop. The center campfire, a ten-foot cowboy, fences, and bales of hay added to the Western style of the dance.

What is the center of attraction: the Belles, the Band, or Mr. Noble? Whichever one the audience watched served only to increase their pleasure at this Christmas Concert.

"Odds and Ends" of PHS Life

Cords and skirts—the sure signs of a senior. Mrs. Donald Bullock, who does many PHS "senior insignia," shows Diane Blackburn how she will finish her skirt as Janet Gustafson exhibits a finished product.

The short by-ways through which our footsteps led us could never be forgotten. Dancing at noon, rooting enthusiastically for a noon league team, designing senior skirts and cords, decorating for a formal dance, making signs telling the Tigers to "Go Beat 'em!", going to after-game dances, reading the Peruvian - - - - such activities were the end-strings of our life that helped tie the middle together into one glorious year.

Through ice and snow, sleet and heat, Ed Gebhart faithfully makes his daily trips to and from the post office as the official PHS mail-carrier.

"Fair exchange," quotes Bob Mowery to Marlene Myers, "You give me a Heath Bar and I'll give you a dime." Kenny Scott, Ted Hooker, and Pam Allman await their chances to buy ice cream.

Awards, Honors, Merits--Part of PHS

They did it again! The Industrial Club once more captured the first place award for the best Homecoming float. These before and after scenes show Rick Mooney working with a mountain of Kleenex; his fellow members, below, are toting the float.

This grade card day was quite a happy one for Pat Hartleroad, Carol Joseph, and Babette Newhouse as they proudly put their names in for the honor roll.

Highest PHS scorers on the National Merit Scholarship test, Darryl Jordan and Ann Disborough display their certificates of commendation.

"Okay, Tim; let's check your temperature," says Nurse's office helper Brenda Johnson. Tim Bessignano, the patient-victim, looks unenthusiastically at the thermometer.

A patient Mr. Ben Rufe, ticket manager, waits for Pat Goughenour to sign up for a season basketball ticket as Beth Wernz flashes a smile and her "greenbacks."

School Offices Improved Student Life

Many students spend one period of the day working in one of the school offices. Others spend their free periods in study hall or the library, or as an assistant to a teacher.

Whatever we do during our regular school day at PHS — study, work, experiment, paint, discuss, or debate — we all are

"Name?" simultaneously ask Mrs. Mary Tresch and Mrs. Mary Robinson of Jim Ulery and Paul Wilhelm. These two employees of the superintendent's office check records of all high school students employed on a part-time basis.

This is a silent cutline because Joe Stout and Barbara Murphy must be silent because they are in the library because being in the library requires silence.

. . . footsteps are heavy on the way to an important test

English Courses --

A worried, hesitant Carolyn Clingaman hands in her weekly junior English theme to a smiling Miss Julie Scheerer.

"Now Mr. Fox, I just know it can't be spelled wrong," argues Beth Wernz as Mr. Philip Fox listens attentively but noncommittally.

Surveying a stack of grammar and literature books used by English students during three years of study, Sophomores Steve McCoy and Vicki Gray wonder whether they will ever master all that the books contain.

One of the many points of interest in English literature is the background of the novelists and poets. Karen Kreutzer and Bob Radel look at a picture of a Scottish castle posted in Miss Dean Finch's room.

Reading, Writing, Speaking, Learning

"Well, let's get this panel discussion moving," prods Bill Hanson as Sophomores Bruce Miller and Ellen Bethel prepare to engage in a lively battle of wits.

Among English students' fondest memories are speech notes, copy deadlines, Friday themes, medieval terminology, and book reports.

Any student to be graduated from PHS must have a background of at least six semesters of English. Sophomores must take literature, grammar, and speech, and may take journalism, while the junior subjects are grammar and American literature. Seniors on the college entrance course are enrolled in English composition and English literature. By taking these courses, students gain a wider vocabulary, better speaking habits, and a greater interest in the literary arts. Some read the plays of Shakespeare for the first time, others learn to write headlines for the school paper, while still others learn how to make good use of the library in doing research.

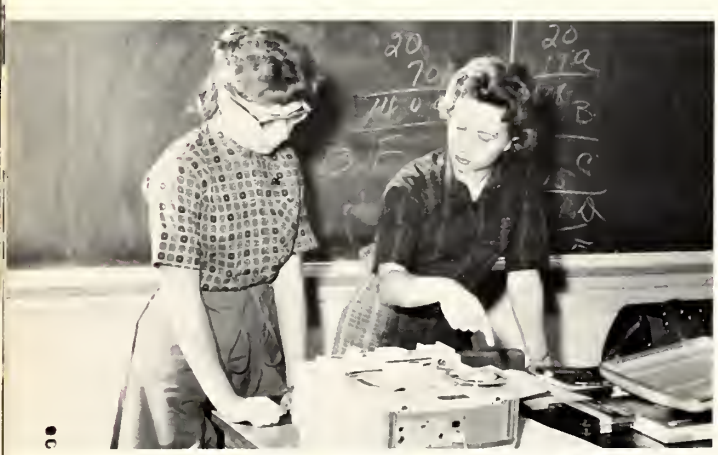
Students enrolled in the salesmanship class are busy the first of the year learning the art of successful selling. The second semester is devoted to the study of business law.

"Add an inch here, take an inch there," comments Louise Schini to Bill Westcott and Mariann Wiltshire as they prepare Peruvian dummies for their journalism class.

Making her final plea, Mary Lynn King displays the blouse she is trying to "sell" in salesmanship class

Admiring a student's model of the Pantheon are Latin pupils Roxie Poff and Bob Schmitz and their instructor, Mr. Virgil Graber.

Foreign Languages and History Include

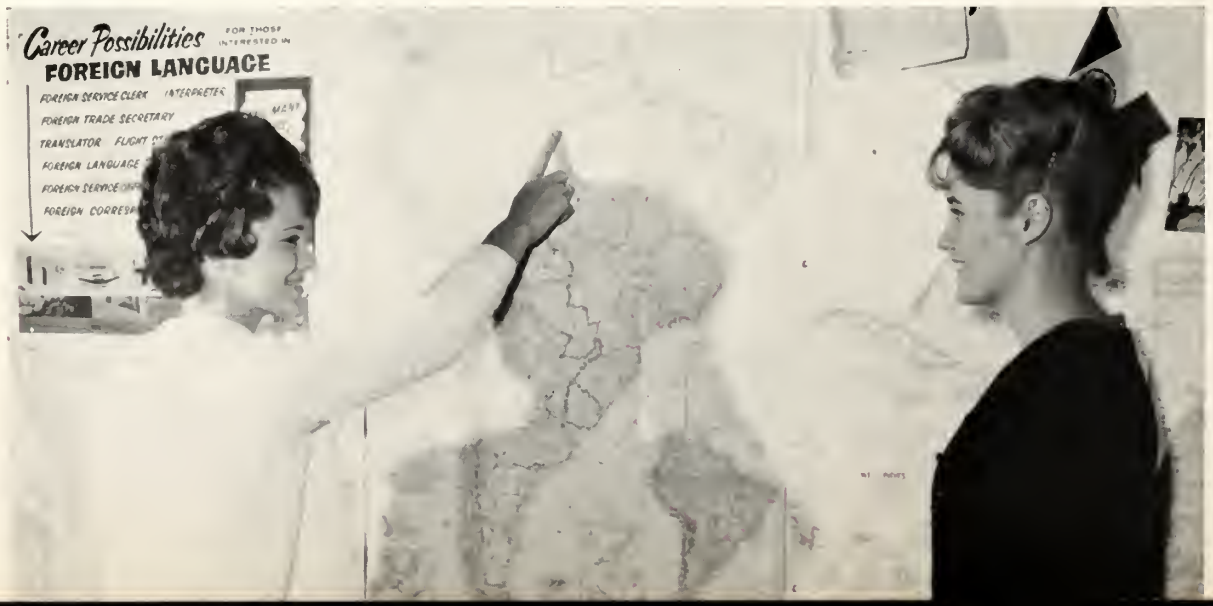


Mrs. Rose, French teacher, demonstrates the operation of the tape recorder to Rosie Carswell. Recent test scores loom menacingly in the background.

This year students have three foreign languages from which to choose. French now is being offered and is taught by Mrs. Jean Rose. The first few weeks students were taught orally with the aid of a tape recorder, but without the use of books. Interest in this new language has increased.

Two years of Latin are offered to students wishing to take this ancient but still useful language. Spanish can also be taken for two years. Mr. Al Martinez, the Spanish instructor, provides an authentic accent because his native tongue is Spanish.

"Most of the Spanish-speaking countries are located in this region," Linda Claybaugh points out to Cherie Velkovich.



Variety of Subjects

I'm ahead of you, Pat," Rod Manifold brags to Patty Wilson as they work the crossword puzzles in their Senior Scholastic Magazines.

Two years of history is a minimum requirement at PHS. Although much class discussion concerns current events, social studies does not deal entirely with recent happenings. World history is offered to either sophomores or seniors while juniors learn of their own country's birth and growth. Unless they take government and sociology in summer school, seniors are required by law to receive credit in these subjects during their last year.

Cathy Wise and Danny Mullet seem to be doing a little last-minute cramming for Mr. Spandau's ever-threatening current events quiz.

One of the many points of interest in world history is the study of foreign countries and continents. Here Miss Scheerer and Jon Fultz explain the meaning of the Greek words illustrated on the chart.

Math Courses -- Difficult but Challenging

Hesitating momentarily, Karen Kunkle checks over her figures while Clotilda Giver and Steve Beverly continue working their college algebra problems.

"Sure wish I had remembered to bring my own compass," says Steve Clark in geometry class.

Math is becoming more and more important in the fast changing world of today. Through their courses, students are shown how math is used in new discoveries and engineering feats. They discover how important mathematics can be for a career in engineering, drafting, architecture, astronomy, or any one of a large number of occupations. But the process of building a logical system of thought is also important, regardless of what field of work a student enters. And this is another added benefit of mathematics. It teaches students how to correctly combine ideas, and to build a logical system of thought.

Skills acquired in earlier mathematics courses such as arithmetic and algebra are extended in the more advanced studies.

Sophomores at PHS are offered a course in plane geometry. Under the guidance of Miss Elizabeth Ridenour, they learn how to apply theorems and corollaries and also to plan and prove constructions. The junior year means advanced algebra and the senior year brings one semester of solid geometry and another of trigonometry.

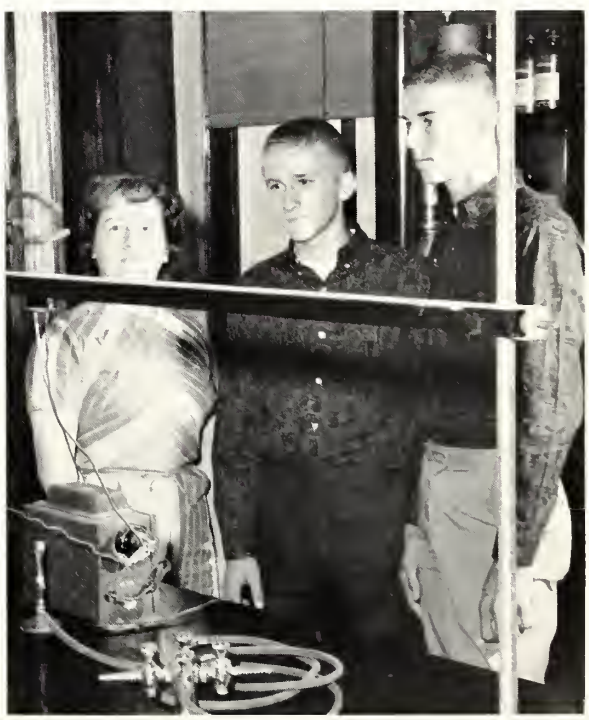
Although only algebra and geometry are required for students on the college entrance course, many pursue their interest further and take as many as eight semesters of math.

Examining a figure made in solid geometry class for a theorem proof are Mary Bullock and Bruce Miller.

Science: Pathway to Future Progress

As Janet Toepfer watches, Leroy Pope attempts a bent glass design and Oliver Goodwin industriously makes hydrogen in chemistry class.

Entranced by the noisy but fascinating electric conductor are physics students Bruce Thurston and Jerry Yentes with their teacher, Miss Rita Lone.



"Hey, let's see your figures, Joe," solid geometry student DeReese Clark urges fellow-classmate Joe Stout.

"On your mark—go." Mrs. Betty Doud times the members of her shorthand class as she dictates a letter to them for a speed test. Concentration is evident on the faces of her students.

Experience Through Business Courses

The commercial course offers a great deal of experience to the student planning to make a career in the business world. Bookkeeping prepares the student for jobs requiring accounting skills. Typing and shorthand (two years of each offered) complement each other. Second year typing is the transcription of shorthand into typewritten material, with speed and accuracy playing a most important role in these courses.

The dictaphone is sometimes used in shorthand so that students may practice taking material at various speeds. With training along this line, a girl may obtain one of the highest-paying jobs offered to women—that of private or executive secretary. PHS business courses help to give job experience.

Lee Ann Fishback makes a trial balance in her workbook as she prepares a report for bookkeeping.

Rushing to beat the clock, Karen Graf transcribes her shorthand into a typewritten letter. Transcription is part of the second-year typing course.

Health and Safety Promote Good Habits

Before a student can be graduated from PHS, he must complete courses in health and safety. One semester is devoted to each subject.

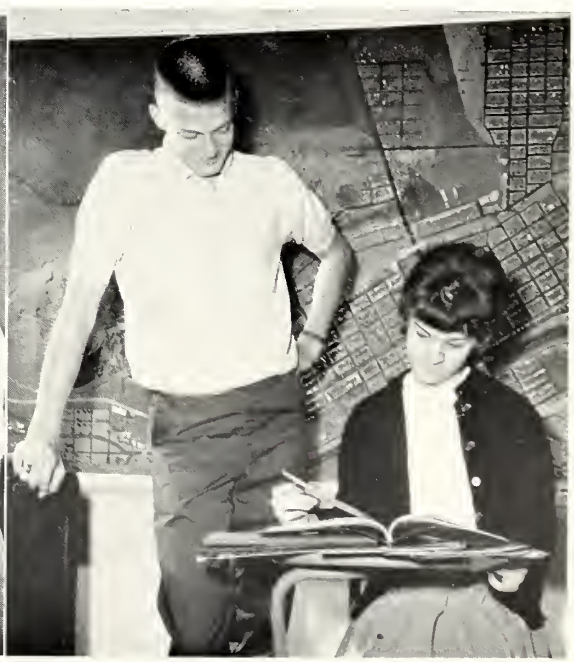
In safety, students learn the mechanics of driving a car, methods of parking a car in tight spaces, and helpful hints on passing a driver's examination test. Classroom study includes solving parking and passing problems, learning to read road maps, and figuring mileage problems. The trainees view films which demonstrate good driving as well as scenes from many accidents. One of the usual requirements is a safety notebook which may include pictures of a car's "insides," diagrams of defensive driving techniques, and sketches of cars of the future.

Health students learn the chief hygiene rules and study the Basic Seven chart which gives pictured examples of what should be eaten each day for a well-balanced diet. Cell drawings, a skeleton, and films are used to stress the best habits for keeping the body healthy.

"Women drivers!" mutters Mr. Robert Larson as Nancy Atkinson goes calmly about her "primping" without concern for her driving instructor's impatience.

Patiently describing the Basic Seven chart, Lindsay Hagen tells classmate Steve Shafer how to eat his way to health.

Looking through a safety notebook made by a former student, Dena Robbins shows Jim Helm why it rated an A.



PHS Music: Texts, Voices, Instruments

"The girls always seem to sing louder and better," muses a disgusted Dick Gerard while Pam Huff accompanies Gloria Harris, Joyce Zerbe, Cindy Soames, and Diana Mitchell in harmony class.

Examining part of the large quantity of material used in advanced harmony class, Dale Ramsey reflects on the advantages and disadvantages of being the only student in the class.

Sing and play, drill and march, and practice, practice, practice—these are well-remembered by the band, Belles, and choir members. Credit is given for participation in these music groups, although they may not be taken in place of a solid subject. Concerts, half-time shows at basketball and football games, and many other public appearances make a full schedule for the music department.

Music courses for those who participate in band, Choir, or Belles are Harmony I and II and Music Literature I and II. Students learn to read and write music; they learn its history and the names of the great composers—they also sing!

Among the many things used in the classes is a record player with records for the students to classify according to author and style. Work books and sheet music are also used.

These classes help to give the student a better understanding and liking for music.

"Soooo, you're the Belles who have been talking to the tune of 'A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody," says Nyla Ayres as she "racks" Pat Wilson and Edy Boyd.

PHS Artists Build, Paint, Model, Draw

Deciding what to put where in his model dream house doesn't seem to be too much of a problem for art student Dennis Snyder.

The swish of a brush, the scratch of a drawing pencil, the taste of glue, and the intoxicating odor of turpentine all are part of the memories of art students at PHS.

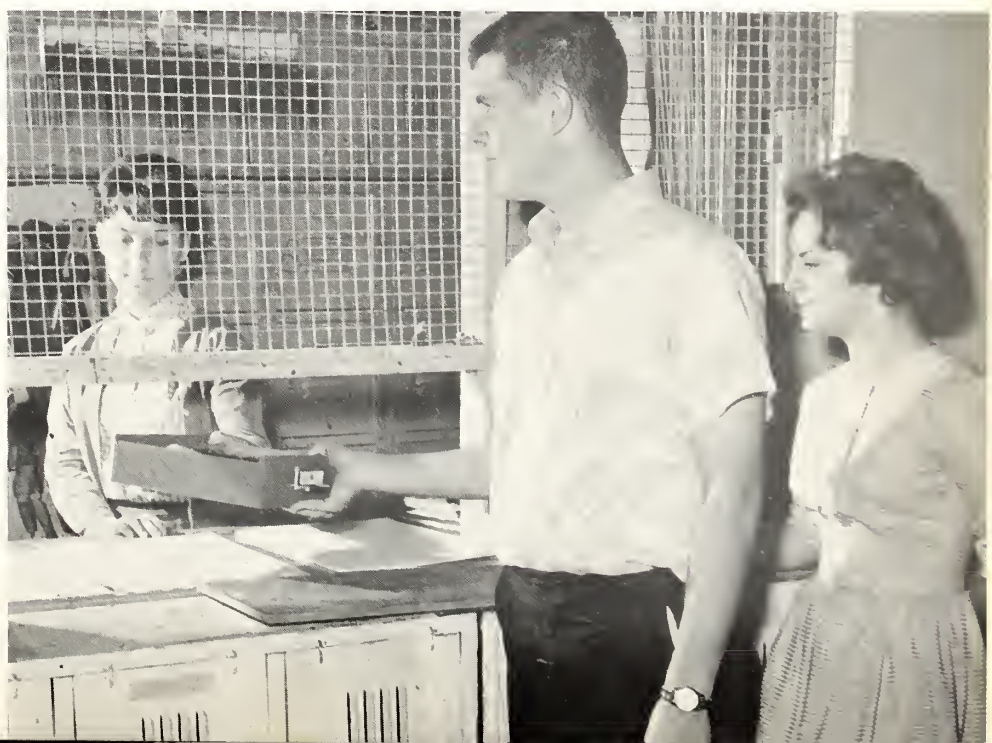
A big project this year for several of the artists was building a dream house, and the finished creations were many and varied.

Art helps students appreciate the everyday articles around them and shows them how to use these articles effectively in their drawings.

Forms of painting include lettering, still-life, landscapes, and portraits.

Each year some students of art, under the direction of Mr. Wayne Taylor, help make sets for special dances, the Rodeo, and plays.

Practicing his skill in lettering, Bill McCormick works with india ink on an art assignment.



"Fill 'er up!" Tim Swagerle kids Barbara Huggins as he and Susan Cattin await distribution of art supplies.

Students Learn To Use Skills Creatively

Many PHS boys develop skill in making articles in the woodworking department. They make furniture for their homes and varnish or stain these for finishing.

Scale drawings, which require precise measurement, are a main part of drafting. During the course one learns to make proportioned drawings with special tools, such as the T-square, metal ruler, compass, and many others.

In metal shop, the boys use a variety of machines for cutting metals, welding, and forming various products.

Bob Mowery tries not to err as he draws a drafting scale model under the watchful eyes of Bruce Lennon and Bob Trexler.

Under the supervision of Instructor Bruce Milburn, Terry Friend faces a piece of stock on a metal lathe.

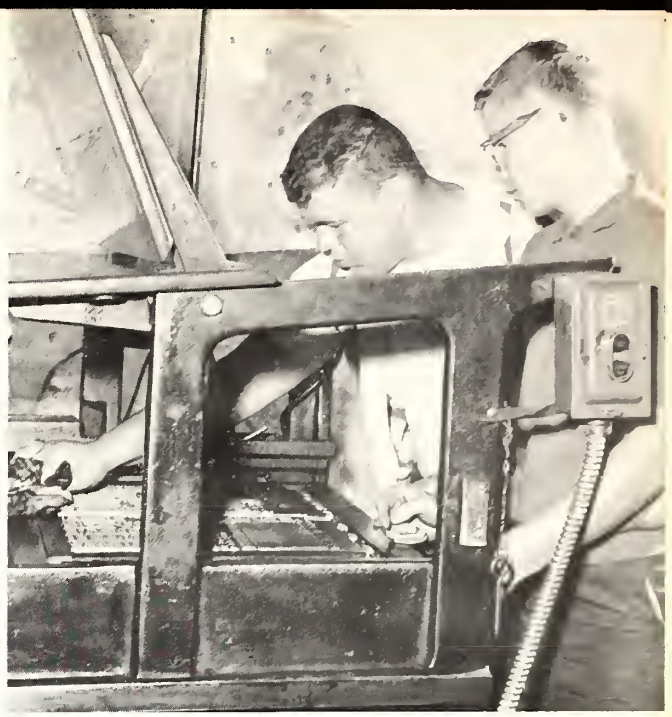
"This is how you operate a woodturning lathe," says Terry Lee to Dave DeWitt, Gregg Hammond, and Ralph Mongosa.

In Shop Classes

To major in industrial arts one must work three years in either metal shop, printing, drafting, or woodworking and one year in any other three of these.

Boys who enjoy working with machinery will be found in a far-off room at PHS learning the fundamentals of printing. The boys print all high school passes, grade cards, absentee slips, and the Peruvian.

The boys must clean the presses, set the type, and run the machines. Since each individual letter must be set in type, a printer needs a great deal of accuracy. Mr. Paul Hahn is the supervisor of the presses.



Kenneth Gipson watches intently as Ron Conklin cleans the type for the Peruvian.

"Are you sure you have that paper in straight?" asks Carl Hartisch of Jack Iliff as Charlie Harrison and Tim Geberin also learn how to use the flatbed press. Gregg Hall is running off passes on the other press.

Home Economics Utilizes Girls' Skills

Just as boys have industrial courses, PHS girls have an opportunity to study homemaking. In home economics, girls learn home management, cooking, sewing, and nursing.

To major in this field, a girl must take two years of home economics and make a required number of articles. These articles are handed in when completed and returned for use after being graded.

By using the textbook and various magazines, the girls collect many recipes for future reference. They also have a chance to help in the lunchroom by serving food during noon hour. This is practical experience for these future homemakers.

Personal hygiene is also a very important part of this course. Involved in this aspect is the knowledge that the order of a home reflects the personal order of the homemaker.

Making new outfits for themselves, Pat Baker and Barbara Lindsay sew carefully and follow pattern instructions.

"Turn on the timer," Sharon Moore instructs Sue Townsend, "so my cookies will be vanilla-flavored instead of chocolate-crisp."

All of these new magazines will surely give Mary Spencer and Virginia Chism new ideas for their Easter fashions.

Giving that extra push to put the volley ball over the net is Johnna Ireland, with an assist from Susan Clark. Behind them, other players await their chance.

"On your mark! Get set!" Swimmers dive in for a quick dash across the "Y" pool. This activity is offered to both boys and girls as a part of the physical education program.

Physical Fitness is Fun for Everyone

Modern dancing was the newest attraction in the girls' physical education classes. Learning grace and body coordination, the girls portrayed trees and spring flowers to the beat of Mrs. Mary Ann Sullivan's bongo drums. The girls also took part in more strenuous activities, such as volleyball, relays, and tumbling.

Boys' physical education activities were dodge ball, volleyball, basketball, and tumbling. Most periods also included calisthenics and isometrics.

Both boys and girls participated in the physical fitness program set up by the national government. Students learned all the activities necessary to increase strength and coordination. Tremendous amounts of energy and practice are needed to reach the government's standards of fitness.

Measuring the span of a student's reach is part of the official physical fitness tests given at PHS. Jim White, senior, tries his skill as David Felthoff and Bruce Miller cheer him on.

. . . teachers' feet walk determinedly to classrooms . . . sophomores' footsteps move hesitantly . . . juniors have an increasingly confident tread . . . seniors proudly march as PHS graduates . . .

PHS Principal Enjoys Rare Quiet Time

Browsing through last year's Narcissus, Mr. Earl Delph, principal, and his wife Lola share memories of an active year at Peru High School. One of his many duties is serving on the publications committee.

"I am especially thrilled with the opportunity of supervising the children of those who were in PHS in my earlier years." With this comment Mr. Delph finishes 22 years as principal of Peru High School.

The administrative tasks for which Mr. Delph is responsible are time-consuming; however, he always maintains a keen interest in his teachers and students individually.

Having served as coach in the school system during the first few years after his arrival here in 1936, Mr. Delph is avidly interested in the athletic fortunes of the school. He works closely with cheer leaders and coaches in developing morale and school spirit.

Since the ideas of the students are important to Mr. Delph, he remains in close contact with their likes and dislikes through the activities of the Student Council.

People often ask Mr. Delph whether the problems connected with being a principal have increased during the years, and to this question he gives an affirmative answer. Necessary changes in the curricular and extra-curricular programs have increased the responsibilities of the administrator.

The present generation, in Mr. Delph's opinion, is scholastically able, and socially and morally mature. He finds that he is able to talk "man-to-man" with most of his students.

Mr. Delph's twenty-second year has seen two changes in his staff. Mrs. Rosanna Garrett, former extra-curricular bookkeeper, replaced Miss Charlotte Baker, who retired as secretary to the principal in June, 1963. Mrs. Garrett was no newcomer to the job, as she had served under Mr. Delph in the same capacity from 1942 to 1946. Mrs. Garrett was replaced by Mrs. Leah Frymire, whose job includes selling athletic and cafeteria tickets as well as keeping the books for the high school.

Another change in the administration offices was the appointment of Mrs. Alice Moon, former typing teacher, as dean of girls. Mr. Noel Davis is dean of boys.

Board Decides Various School Issues

As superintendent of the Peru Community Schools, Mr. Fred Fechtman has a great many duties to perform. He must supervise the activities in all of the Peru schools, give speeches to various organizations, strive to improve the school system, and meet with the school board.

Persons working in the office of the superintendent are Mrs. Mary Tresch, Mr. Fechtman's secretary; Mrs. Marian Lingenfelter, attendance officer for the Peru schools, and Mrs. Mary Robinson, secretary for the school board, who also works with Mr. Fechtman.

The Peru Community School Board, composed of seven members, makes decisions on many important school issues occurring during the year. One of the biggest items of business for the board members is that of deciding the teachers' salaries. Other duties of the board are overseeing the building of city schools, the contracting of teachers, and the operating of the schools in general.

In his annual address to the PHS student body, Mr. Fred Fechtman stresses what he expects of high school students.

The Peru Community School Board sets policy for the schools. Seated: Mrs. Mary Robinson, clerk to the school board; Dr. Raymond Hopper, athletic board representative; Everett Walpe, president, and Mr. Herschel Wheeler secretary. Standing: Mr. Robert Haig, attorney; Mr. Albert Fishback, second vice-president; Mr. Richard Scott, treasurer; Mr. Fred Fechtman, superintendent; Mr. Robert Thompson, first vice-president, and Mr. Lester Stout, assistant secretary.

Teachers Work Behind the Scenes

Sharing ideas on team spirit are Mr. Robert Larson and Mr. Robert Biddle, football and basketball coaches respectively, in one of their brief conversations between classes.

"Up the east stairs, down the west!" Stair-watching falls to the lot of Mr. William Siderewicz and Mr. James Zielinski, who keep an eye out for student traffic violators.

Asking permission for a re-take on her individual picture, Judy Blackman receives advice from Mrs. Mary Keith, who spends many hours at work on the Narcissus.

Contrary to popular belief, there is more to teaching than giving instruction in the three R's. Almost every PHS teacher sponsors some activity or club, and many have other little "extra" duties to perform during the course of a school day. "A teacher's work is never done" could be the theme song of Peru High School educators.

Students seem to create many problems for teachers. Principal Earl Delph and Superintendent Fred Fechtman could be discussing students' behavior in the halls.

Seniors: Last of Four-Year Students

"You wouldn't squirt me with that water, would you?" asks Janice English, senior class secretary, of playful Nate Marburger, vice-president. John Allbritten, treasurer, and Leroy Pope, president, also find the incident amusing.

Seniors of the 1964 graduating class were the last students to study four years at PHS. In the school year of 1960 the last of the Peru freshmen to enroll in PHS started their senior high school life. Under the new six-three-three system introduced that year, the junior high accommodated the seventh, eighth, and ninth graders; the high school was made-up of tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade students.

As freshmen, the 1964 seniors were excited about being in high school and worried about doing something wrong. To the average freshman it seemed there were a dozen upper classmen ready to correct every mistake.

Waiting until the end of the sophomore year for their class rings seemed like an eternity, but the long wait was worth it.

Finally, they became juniors, and a new group of students were "stuck" with the label of underclassmen and "greenies." The Junior Class Play, "Harvey," was presented, and the returns from it went for the Junior-Senior Prom.

With the twelfth year came privileges reserved for seniors. Wearing senior cords, occupying the front seats in auditorium, selecting senior pictures, and being measured for caps and gowns—all were part of the last year.

Their glorious reign as "the high and mighty seniors" came to a close. The senior cords so proudly worn that last year were tucked away in the far corner of the closet as a new and exciting life opened. The accomplishments of the class of 1964 belong to history.

Juniors Prepare To Reign as Seniors

At long last the juniors rose from the status of "under dogs" to that of stately upperclassmen. With this rank came the privilege of wearing class rings, joining selective clubs, and serving on the Boys' and Girls' League cabinets. Their rank also brought added responsibility: decorating for the Junior-Senior Prom and acting in the Junior-Senior play.

Grades began to look even more important, and careers not too far away. Juniors suffered through the first of many tests required for college entrance. As they closed the eleventh chapter of their school days, the class of '65 tucked away memories of a successful year at PHS, eagerly anticipating the twelfth and final chapter.

"We'll start on our diet tomorrow," vow Valorie Claybaugh and Karron Hudson as they buy candy at "Eddie's Store," while their junior classmates, Robert DeLawter, Steve Eder, and Mac Ashby look on.

Reading several of the many interesting plaques in the halls, the sophomore officers wonder what their class will add to PHS. They are Jane Hoffman, secretary; Jeff Nelp, president; Tony Thompson, vice-president, and Linda Claybaugh, treasurer.

Sophomores Begin Exciting Year at PHS

Members of the sophomore class spent most of their first year at Peru High School studying and becoming acquainted with other students and high school life. Many students auditioned for membership in various musical organizations. During the fall they joined clubs and learned the hectic daily routine of athletes and bandsmen.

The sophomores nominated girls to be attendants representing them at school functions such as Rodeo, Homecoming, and the Starlight Ball.

Representatives from each homeroom met to choose the style of their class rings, and in the early spring all sophomores chose the color and size of the ring they fancied. Assisted by class sponsors, members of the sophomore class completed their first high school year by decorating for Baccalaureate.

Gridders Practice from Mid-August

This year's Peru football team finished the season with a winning 6-4-0 record. Although the Tigers didn't manage to capture the Central Indiana Conference title, they did place in a four-way tie for second place, sporting a 4-1 conference record.

Losing the first game to Logansport by six points was a disappointment, but the Bengals bounced back by handing Warsaw a 33-20 defeat. The tilt with Huntington was undoubtedly the most thrilling spectacle of the season. Senior tackle Rick Mooney kicked a 27-yard field goal in the last minutes of the game to save Peru from the short end of a 19-20 game. The final score was 22-20. Then Tipton handed the Peruvians their only CIC loss of the season. The 27-20 defeat was reminiscent of last year's 7-6 loss at the hands of the Blue Devils—the only Peru loss that year.

A typical PHS practice scene shows linemen perfecting their blocking skills for an upcoming game. Blocking between the wooden poles adds difficulty to this drill.

Peru's 1963 football squad consisted of: Row 1: G. Stewart, J. Henry, R. Mooney, J. Baber, R. McNeil, R. Kerns, P. Walker, D. Snyder, D. Jordan, and T. Chapin. Row 2: B. Shuey, R. Danielsen, D. Hartleroad, M. Eikenberry, J. Hentgen, M. Hoover, R. Conklin, L. Minns, B. Buffington, J. Yentes, and B. Rockenbaugh. Row 3: S. Shafer, M. Weaver, J. Wilson, D. Richards, D. Buzbee, T. Swagerle, H. Masiuk, T. Rockwell, M. O'Connell, and S. Eder. Row 4: K. McKee, D. Brindle, J. Blackman, D. Hunt, D. Teal, J. Butzin, M. Mills, C. Craycraft, J. D. Dunton, J. Rockenbaugh, and T. Hughes. Row 5: V. Geberin, D. LaCoss, and N. Blaski.

By the latter part of the season, after numerous changes, the starting offensive team had jelled into Row 1: J. Yentes, end; H. Masiuk, tackle; D. Snyder, guard; D. Jordan, center; J. Baber, guard; R. Mooney, tackle; and D. Hunt, end. Row 2: B. Shuey, halfback; J. Henry, quarterback; B. Rockenbaugh, fullback; and S. Shafer, halfback.

Team Compiles Winning 6-4 Record

Senior gridders are: Kneeling: D. Jordan, G. Stewart, J. Henry, and R. Mooney. Standing: P. Walker, R. Kerns, T. Chapin, J. Baber, and D. Snyder. Not pictured is R. McNeil.

A determined Wabash eleven ran circles around Peru throughout the first half. The stunned Tigers regained their bearings the second half, but to no avail; the final score was 33-7.

Coach Robert Larson's men had no difficulty disposing of Rochester and Hartford City. Both of these conference foes were dealt 33-19 defeats.

Penn's Kingsmen sent the Tigers home with their most stinging loss of the season. The beefy northerners scored almost at will, taking advantage of an ineffective pass defense and running the score up to 41-6.

Peru rounded out the season with a pair of victories, 26-12 and 52-12, over Maconaquah and Twin Lakes.

Larsonmen Plagued with Inexperience

Recipients of the 1963 individual football awards are Jeff Henry, Kiwanis Most Valuable Player trophy; Rick Mooney, team captain, and Jim Baber, Elks' Past Exalted Rulers' Best Defensive Player award.

Several individual honors went to members of the 1963 football Tigers. Rick Mooney, who last year was placed on the All-Conference first team and the All-State third team, this year was named to the Conference second team and to the State third squad.

Senior guard Jim Baber, besides receiving the Elks' award, was named to the All-Conference second team. Jeff Henry, Kiwanis Award winner, also gained All-Conference Honorable Mention. Another player, Jerry Yentes, was given honorable mention for his work at end.

Enveloping a pass, End Jerry Yentes scores the final touchdown of the Warsaw clash, which the Tigers won, 33-20.

A well-executed block by Bob Rockenbaugh is all in vain as Bill Shuey (with ball) finds himself in difficulty.

But All-Important Desire Is Present

Lack of experience was the greatest force working against Coach Larson and his staff this year. Of the ten seniors on the team, only four were returning lettermen. This meant that many positions were left to be filled by juniors and sophomores. Many starters were seeing their first varsity play this year. The fact that most of the players this year were young will enable Coach Larson to field veteran teams for at least the next two years.

Defensively, the team's inexperience was most evident. This was illustrated by the fact that the fewest points any teams scored against the Tigers this year was 12. Peru averaged 23.8 points per game, a scant 2.3 points more than their opponents' 21.5 points per game average.

Individually, Junior Bob Rockenbaugh, tackle-converted-fullback, led his team in rushing yardage with 547 yards, averaging 4.4 yards per carry. Another junior, speedy Bill Shuey, gained 362 yards in 51 tries to maintain the team's best average—7.0 yards per carry.

"Unhand me!" says Jeff Henry as he slips from the grasp of a would-be tackler.

In the passing department, Jeff Henry launched most of the aerials with a completion record of 47.4 percent. Ten of Henry's passes went for touchdowns and two for extra points. As Henry's chief receiver, Jerry Yentes snagged 30 passes, six of which scored.

Mooney, who played defensive end, led all tacklers with 82 tackles, followed by Jim Baber with 63 and linebacker Bob Rockenbaugh with 57. Junior tackle Herb Masiuk, in his first year of football, did a fine defensive job by tripping up 48 runners. Ron Conklin, a junior lineman who tips the scales at nearly 300 pounds, crushed a total of 43 ball carriers.

Tiger Harriers Compile 7-3 Record

The cross country Tigers finished a very successful season, by coming out on top in 7 out of 7 dual meets. Two meets were three-way, with Peru finishing behind Logansport and ahead of Delphi in one, and ahead of both Hartford City and Tipton in the other.

Peru placed fourth in the Central Indiana Conference meet, and third in the Logansport sectional. Joe Stout's sixth place was Peru's best individual effort in the sectional.

This year's cross country team is: Kneeling: J. Latta, L. Burdine, J. Stout, T. Comerford, S. Beverly, B. Smith, and J. Duncan. Standing: Coach Robert Biddle, C. Welke, B. Schmitz, K. Day, J. Ratliff, D. Hentgen, R. Mongosa, M. Joseph, manager.

Students Enjoy Weight-Lifting, Noon League

Bill Buffington and Larry Minns do sit-ups with 25-pound weights behind their heads, an exercise designed to strengthen the stomach muscles.

"Don't drop it!" says Ron Conklin to Kirk McKee and Jim Baber as they situate a 300-pound barbell for Ron to bench press.

A weight training program is available to football players during the winter months to keep them in good physical condition in the off-season. Coach Robert Larson feels that the weight-lifting program can do much to prepare a football player for the following year. The weight lifters do not participate on a team or competitive basis, but rather they work to improve themselves as football players. Aside from weight lifting the boys do a great amount of calesthenics and running.

The PHS intra-mural program consists of a noon basketball league. The boys, under the supervision of Mr. Robert Biddle, give up their noon hour to play. Noon League not only affords boys an opportunity to play organized basketball, but also provides entertainment for numerous spectators.

In the spring a championship team is determined by means of a tournament.

Two more points are scored by Greg Correll of "The Seagram's Seven," as DeWayne Buzbee, captain of the opposition, vainly tries to block his shot.

Getting their heads together are, clockwise, Jeff Henry, Jerry Yentes, Kenny Day, Gayle Bomar, Mike Eikenberry, and Tom Hayes. Any five of these boys usually comprised the starting line-up.

Peru's 1963-64 basketball team was plagued with bad luck and a difficult schedule, managing a season's record of 6 wins against 14 losses. Their conference record was 3 wins and 7 losses. Several of the Tigers' opponents, however, were consistently among the top ten teams of the state.

Beginning the season in fine shape, the Tigers were victorious in four of their eight starts before the year 1963 ended, but 1964 began with a bleak January as the Tigs lost seven straight games. The only Peru victory in January came on the 31st against conference foe Plymouth. Then after two more losses, the Bengals scored a victory over Rochester, their last win of the season.

In the season opener Peru beat Monticello, 61-58. Senior Jeff Henry bagged 21 points in this game and the team's shooting percentage was .482. The next week Mishawaka snowed the Tigers under by a margin of 28 points, the score being 80-52. Junior center Mike Eikenberry scored 25 points. Peru then beat conference foe Alexandria, 46 to 37. After gaining an early lead, the Tigers kept the margin about the same throughout the game.

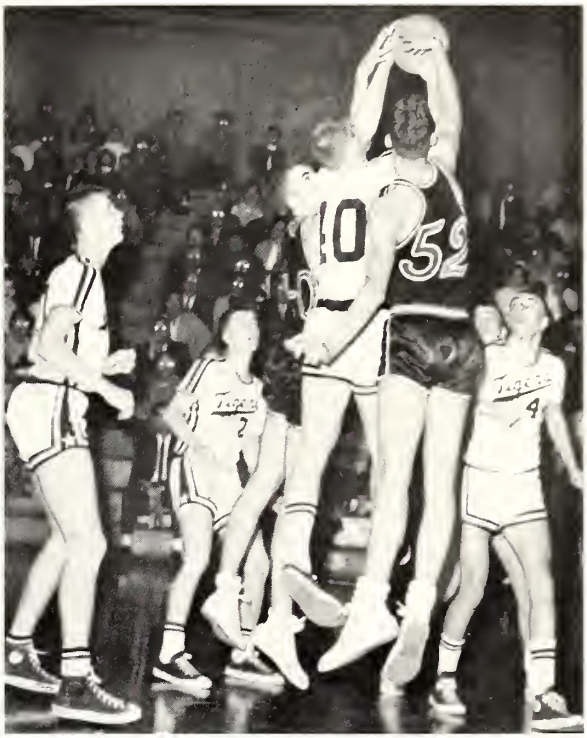
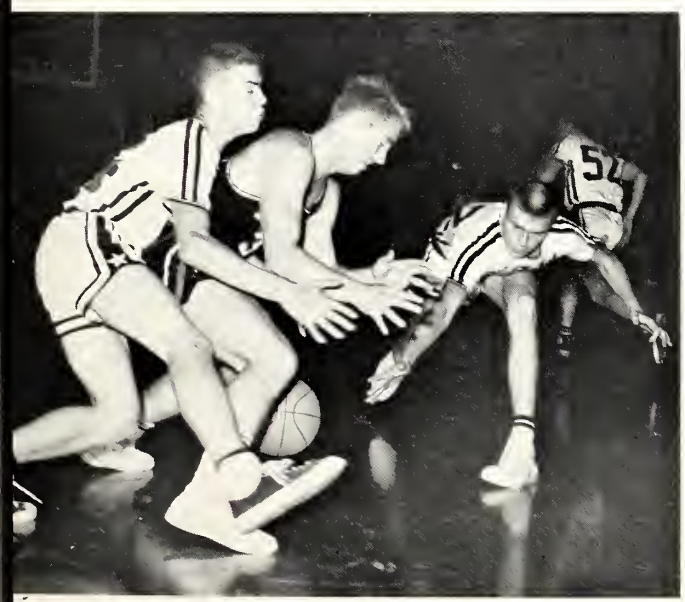
Inconsistent Tigers Have Losing Streak

"Don't take it; it's mine." says Gayle Bomar, a newcomer to PHS, as he guards the sphere from two foes.



Amidst clawing hands Bomar seizes the ball, while Mike Eikenberry, Jeff Henry, and Kenny Day look on tensely.



Bob Schmitz reaches for the ball, which Tom Hayes has just jarred loose from an opponent's grasp.

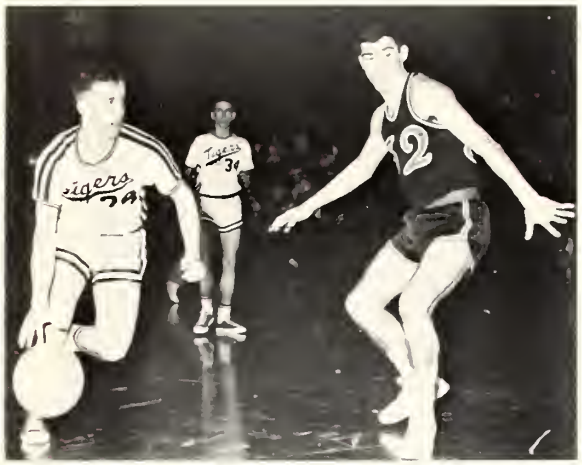
Finish Season with 6 Wins, 14 Losses



Lone senior Jeff Henry displays his shifty basketball tactics as he speeds around an opponent.

The next week saw Hartford City, also a conference team, hand Peru its second defeat of the season. Rival Logansport fell victim in an exciting contest. Henry scored 30 points in this game. A strong Tipton team had a hard time subduing the Tigers the next week.

During Christmas vacation coach Robert Biddle's men painted a picture of inconsistency at the Columbia City 4-way tourney. In the afternoon game Peru lost to the tourney champions, Columbia City, 59 to 84. Looking immeasurably better in the evening game, the Tigers defeated Albion in the consolation game by a high-scoring 108 to 84.

Getting back into regular season's play, Peru began a seven-game losing streak by falling victim to Fort Wayne Central, Michigan City, Muncie Burris, and Wabash. Then they lost to Warsaw, Kokomo and Oak Hill.

Instead of despairing at their woeful record, the Tigs mustered up enough spirit to come out on top of Plymouth, 78 to 75.

Although they played a spirited first half, the Tigers could not hold Huntington back in the second half. The final score was 53 to 77.

Following a trip to Indianapolis Tech only to lose 70 to 92, the Bengals won a well-matched game against Rochester. Elwood downed Peru, 49 to 58 in the last scheduled game.

Thus ending their regular season, Coach Biddle's men prepared for the sectional. This year the Peru sectional was eliminated, and the various teams were absorbed by surrounding sectionals. Peru's new site was Logansport. Pioneer defeated Peru in their first game and later won the sectional crown.

Recipe for an exciting Friday evening at PHS: five Tigers, five opponents, two referees, a packed Tig-Arena of enthusiastic fans, and that invisible presence.....spirit.

B-Team Builds Future Varsity Players

The 1963-64 Tiger Cubs were: Kneeling: M. Weaver, S. Shafer, J. Wilson, D. Teal. Standing: R. Danielsen, B. Schmitz, D. Hunt, Coach John Rigel. B. Bakehorn was absent when the picture was taken.

Basil Bakehorn gets off a shot as his Huntington opponents rush to the attack.

"Just try to get it." says Jerry Wilson, sophomore reserve, as he starts to cut for the basket.

Necessary for a successful team are experience and depth, both of which were serious shortcomings of the Tigers this year. Jeff Henry was the only senior on the squad, and he and Junior Mike Eikenberry were the only two returning lettermen. Although this fact presented insurmountable problems this year, it means that the whole team, except for Henry, will be back next year.

Sophomore Bob Schmitz showed promise this year and displayed some fine rebounding. Gayle Bomar, a junior, transferred here from Kentucky and played his first season of PHS athletics this winter.

Juniors Kenny Day, Tom Hayes, John Hentgen, Alan Kinney and Bob Rockenbaugh also played regularly.

The 1963 Track team was: Row 1: T. Thompson, D. Jordan, S. Phillipy, J. Winters, N. Blaski, M. Yater, J. Latta, T. Hayes, A. Denny, B. Hanson, D. LaCoss, D. Snyder. Row 2: Coach Brentis Berkshire, D. Landis, K. Bird, B. Mangene, G. Hammond, D. Enyart, M. Hayes, B. Jones, J. White, B. Thurston, S. Beverly, D. Hendricks, R. Garver, P. Walker. Row 3: M. Rody, K. Dove, L. Fry, R. Conklin, J. Hughes, R. Danielsen, G. Stewart, J. Helm, B. Miller, T. Schram, J. Ratliff, J. Pattison, R. Siders, Coach Clifford Snyder. Row 4: S. McCoy, B. Musgrave, D. Hunt, F. Sipe, C. Welke, J. Brownlee.

Trackmen Erase Two School Records

During 1963 two school track records were set. Keith Bird ran the 440-yard run in 52.2 seconds, shaving .8 second off the old record. Bird, Mike Yater, Dale Landis, and Mike Hayes comprised the mile relay team that broke the school record. This time was 3:40.9.

Coach Brentis Berkshire's boys placed fourth in the CIC meet. Bob Mangene placed fifth in shot put, Gregg Hammond placed third in the 100-yard dash and tied for second in the 220-yard dash, and Gary Stewart had a fifth in the 100. In the high jump Denny Hunt captured a second-place ribbon, while Bird and Landis placed second and fifth respectively in the 440, and Hayes came in third in the half-mile run. The relay team was fourth, and the half-mile relay, first.

Practicing his high-jumping form. Sophomore Denny Hunt clears the bar.

Netmen Undefeated For Fifth Season

Peru's 1963 tennis team again came through the season with an unblemished record. Their 15-0 season's record marks the fifth consecutive undefeated year, the last defeat being in 1959.

Aside from the regular scheduled 15 victories, most of which had scores of 7-0, the racketmen won three tournaments. The Number One doubles team of Jerry Bradley and Danny Rassner placed first out of eight teams in the Lafayette Jefferson Doubles Tournament, thus bringing to Peru its fifth straight victory in this tournament.

The team completely dominated the winners' berths in the Central Indiana Conference Championship Tournament. Jerry Bradley placed first in the singles division while his teammates dominated the doubles. The doubles team of Mike Eikenberry and Lee Holmes placed first in the Number One doubles division, and Kenny Oyler and Danny Rassner won the Number Two doubles.

No state championship tournament for tennis yet exists in Indiana, but many tennis followers claim the mythical state championship for Peru. This claim can be substantiated by the Tigers' overwhelming victory in the Col. Bishop State Invitational Tournament in which Peru outscored second place Shortridge of Indianapolis, 18-10. In this contest Peru's Number One and Number Two doubles teams played each other in the finals to place first and second respectively.

Peru's golf team played a very successful season, compiling an 11-0 record. The linksmen failed to reach the state tournament, as they placed fifth in the sectional, and only the first four placing teams participate.

Coach Jack Craycraft should have an equally good team in 1964 since the team was only slightly diminished through graduation. The Spranger twins, Harold and Gerald, and Tim Noble were the only seniors on the team. Only five boys participated in each match. The top five players were usually chosen from among Harold Spranger, Gerald Spranger, Jerry King, Park Cutler, Tim Noble, Eddie Cowan, and John Greenfield.

Senior managers who perform many duties are M. Joseph, G. Joseph, K. Grether, S. Cassel, R. Schubert.

Cheerleaders, Pepettes Promote Spirit

B-Team cheerleaders stir up enthusiasm for the reserve team and prepare themselves for possible positions on the varsity yell squad. They are Libby Nye, Becky Allbritten, captain; and Ronnie Longenecker.

"Look, Ma, no hands." says Joe Beauchamp as he soars above the other varsity cheerleaders: Susie Hilgeman, Beverly Black, Clo Giver, and Nancy Smith.

Shown during a practice session in the Tig-Arena, the Pepettes present a striking appearance. Their organized cheering adds excitement and spirit to basketball games. Mrs. Mary Ann Sullivan was in charge of this group.

With a look of intense concentration on her face, Chris Johnson swings a fast right on her alley approach.

"Woe is me!" wails Chris as her tenth frame attempt veers sharply to the left and rules out the possibility of a strike.

Girls Also Have Athletic Opportunities

The Girls' Athletic Association offers PHS girls an opportunity to participate in organized sports. The girls have a bowling league in which they may win trophies for outstanding performance. Volleyball and deck tennis are two more sports that the girls enjoy. Tournaments are staged to determine the championship volleyball and deck tennis teams.

Mrs. Mary Ann Sullivan, GAA sponsor, has organized a girls' track team. The team will compete against similar teams from neighboring cities. If this program is successful, it will be Peru High School's first girls' track team.

Officers of GAA are Beverly Black, president; Clotilda Giver, vice-president; Judy Nelp, treasurer; Nancy Atkinson, recording secretary; and Janice English, corresponding secretary.

Scholarship, srvice, character, and leadership: these are the qualifications for membership in National Honor Society. In the fall induction, seniors with a 91 per cent grade average were taken into the club, and juniors with a 93 ner cent average became members in the spring. This yare's is the largest honor society in the school's history. Officers were Bunny Pier, president, Leroy Pope, vice-president, and Diana Mitchell, secretary-treasurer.

Underclass scholars compose the membership of this group of the National Horon Society. Row 1: C. King, V. Crowden, N. Smith, D. Winn, M. Sutton, C. Boyer, G. Freeman, F. Jones, Miss Elizabeth Ridenour, sponsor, Row 2: J. Berger, D. Gerard, C. Welke, J. Kreutzer, C. Cole, P. Lauderdale. K. Kunkle, N. Beck, Row 3: B. Davidson, C. Bunnell, E. Larimer, D. With Jeff Henry as their president, the Student Council undertook several school functions, including sponsoring the All-Fund Drive and allocating the charity money. By Student Council vote the new PA system for the Tig-Arena was purchased with the extra Rodeo money.

The members of Math club, with Joe Stout as their president, learned many interesting and useful things dealing with vocations in the field of mathematics. They also spent some extra time solving different types of mathematical problems. The sponsor of the Math Club is Mr. Ben Rufe.

Many problems are brought before the Student Council. The members are: Row 1: C. King, L. Jackson, S. Walker, B. Black, N. Ayres, J. Zerbe, J. English, B. Kennedy, E. Thurston, M. Overmyer, B. Discussing plans for entertaining their mothers are the Girls' League officers. They are Mrs. Alice Moon, sponsor; J. Wallace, president; J. Zerbe, assistant treasurer; L. Hagen, second vice-president; A. Taylor, recording secretary; D. Davis, first vice-president; C. Lee, corresponding secretary, and C. King, treasurer.

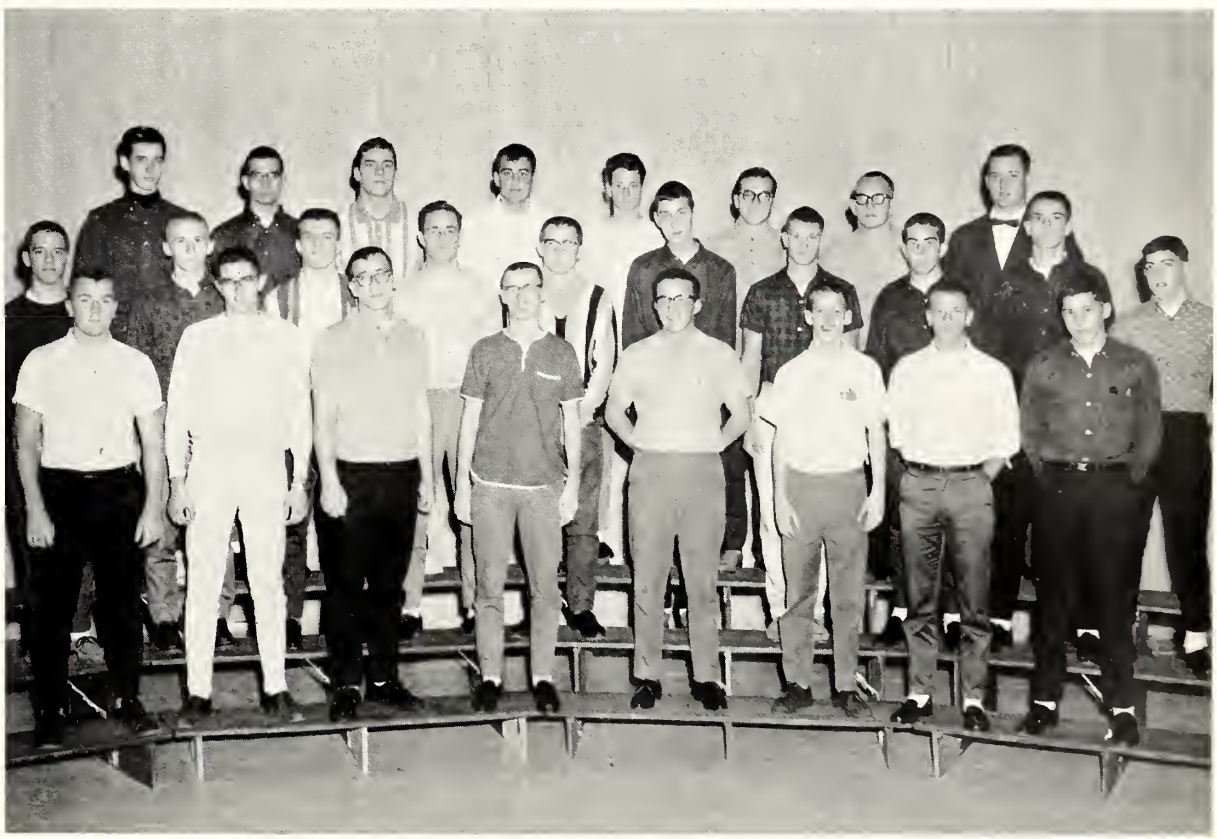
Boys Tidy Up Hall

To help new students become acquainted with PHS was the year's first project for the Boys' League. The group also presented the traditional Thanksgiving auditorium with the Right Reverend Monsignor Arthur A. Sego as speaker. In March the organization sponsored the annual Boys' League dance. A continuing project was that of keeping the school corridors clean. Mr. William Siderewicz is the sponsor.

The Mother-Daughter Social given by the Girls' League provided an evening of enjoyment and entertainment for the mothers of PHS girls. In December, the spirit of the season was spread by the annual Girls' League Christmas Dance and the Christmas auditorium.

"You missed some paper," says Jeff Henry, president of the Boys' League, to the other officers who help direct the League's clean-up project: Jerry Yentes, secretary; Rick Mooney, vice-president; Larry Minns, treasurer.



These Boys' League Representatives aid the officers in completing their projects. Row 1: D. DeWitt, J. Fultz, B. Baker, B. Bakehorn, H. Hartz, J. McCormick, R. Huddleston, M. Edit '64 Narcissus

Ruth Angle and Bunny Pier, Narcissus editors-in-chief, check type faces for the yearbook with Earl Winters, compositor for the Sentinel Printing Company.

Informally identifying underclass pictures are the Narcissus editorial staff. Seated: C. Soames, D. Winn, underclass editors; K. Kreutzer, activities editor; S. Hemrick and R. Bunnell, index editors; L. Schini and S. Siblisk, classroom editors. Standing: J. Dobler, activities editor; D. Jordan, sports editor; M. Bullock and M. Cole, senior editors.

The Narcissus, dating back to 1901, requires of its staff many hours of work: planning layouts, taking pictures, gathering information, writing and re-writing, selling ads, and making collections.

Work on the book started last summer at the Indiana University Journalism Institute when Ruth Angle and Bunny Pier planned the dummy for the book, and Judy Hopper learned the best techniques of business management. From then on the girls and the staff were kept busy.

Several school days last fall were set aside for taking underclass, classroom, sports and activities pictures. January and February were the months for late pictures, and March and early April brought deadlines close. Finally, May.....and the distribution of the finished book.

The Narcissus business staff look through old yearbooks to find ideas for new ads. Front: J. English, J. Hopper, business-advertising manager; S. Cattin, M. Murphy. Back: S. Clingaman, S. Swafford, D. Gerard, photographer.

Peruvian Covers Happenings at PHS

"Will this issue ever be finished on time?" is a question which can be heard in the publications office as the time draws near for each new issue of the Peruvian to go to press.

An unbelievable amount of work, time, and patience is put into each issue of the school paper. Because of the shortage of available qualified staff members, the Peruvian staff was headed by two experienced students who necessarily did a dual job. They are Lindsay Hagen and Jean Wallace.

The many hours of work spent on the paper consisted of making out assignment sheets; reading copy and taking it to the printer; writing stories, editorials, and headlines, and making up the pages.

The Peruvian staff adviser is Mr. Philip Fox.

Pride is evident on the faces of these members of the major Peruvian staff as they look over an issue of the paper. They are Jack Langdon, news editor; and Jean Wallace and Lindsay Hagen, co-editors.

"Let's see what's on the agenda for this week," say staff members as they check the assignment sheet. They are Eddie Cowan, assistant editor; Susan Hilgeman, assistant editor; Kurt Dove, sports editor; Karen Kreutzer, assistant editor, and Lee Ann Fishback, copy editor.

These ambitious journalism students spent much time writing stories for the Peruvian. Row 1: G. Bryant, B. Scott, L. Schini, B. Allbritten, D. Winn, J. Hoffman, E. Bethel, G. Fishback, C. Dossey, C. Cole.

The NFL and FTA are two selective clubs at PHS. The speech club is for those students interested in attending state-wide contests to advance their public speaking. Students interested in a vocation in teaching write a theme to determine membership eligibility in the FTA. This organization works closely with the community teachers to promote better teacher-student relationships.

Students interested in teaching are members of the Future Teachers of America. Row 1: F. Jones, M. Cole, K. Volpert, P. Wilson, D. Mitchell, D. Davis, J. Hopper, A. Taylor, B. Wernz, C. Pohlman, N. Ayres, J. Dobler, C. Cole, C. Garrett, S. Gaunt, J. Creager, G. Harris, J. Hopper, C. Jones, R. Poff.

The Belles have completed their fourth year at PHS. This recently-organized, all-girl vocal group consisted of fifty-two persons. The officers of the Belles are Cathy Wise, president; Nyla Ayres, secretary; Jean Dobler, manager; Beverly Black, librarian, and Linda Jackson, student director.

The Choir consists of a mixed group of forty-eight vocalists. The officers of the Choir are Ronnie Bowland, student director; John Allbritten, president; Marty Erlenbaugh, manager; Ronnie Williams, secretary, and Janice English, librarian.

These two singing groups had a busy year. In the fall both organizations sang in the Rodeo. At the Thanksgiving auditorium, sponsored by the Boys' League, the choir sang several numbers. The Belles and Choir both appeared in part of the program at the Christmas auditorium and led the student body in singing carols. They participated in many of the Christmas festivities by appearing in programs for several civic organizations in the community. After hours of practice they presented their annual Christmas and Spring Concerts. This year the Three-Way Music Festival took place at Marion; members of the Peru High School music department and members of the music department of Kokomo High School were the guests of Marion High School.

The Choir and Belles are under the direction of Mr. James E. Noble.

Choir Entertains at Christmas Program

Band Adds Spirit to the Pep Sessions

Music by these Band members was furnished for the pep sessions. Row 1: L. Pope, J. Brownlee, D. Thompson, R. Manifold, J. Helm, T. Thompson, N. Geyer. Row 2: R. Mowery, J. Cleveland, N. Marburger, K. Hahn, F. Jones, D. Henderson, C. Boyer, G. Harris, A. Taylor, J. Hoover. Row 3: D. Ramsey, D. Gerard, O. Goodwin. Row 4: J. Allbritten, C. Soames, C. Davidson, R. Bowland, D. Harding, L. Dunton, D. Wright, E. Cowan.

The marching Tiger Band entertained the fans during the football and basketball games with their many half-time shows. At the beginning of each game, the Band played the national anthem. They also gave special half-time performances at football games at Ball State Teachers College and Butler University.

The Stage Band accompanied several of the Rodeo acts with music composed by Cole Porter, and the Pep Band provided spirited music at the Friday afternoon pep sessions.

Members of the Concert Band and the Wind Ensemble played at the Christmas and Spring Concerts. Band members also traveled to Marion to participate in the Three-City Festival—the last high school performance for senior members.

Working as officers of the Band were Dale Ramsey, student director; Ronnie Bowland, captain; John Allbritten, 1st lieutenant; Dave Wright, 2nd lieutenant; Leroy Pope, manager; Oliver Goodwin, assistant manager, and Diana Mitchell, librarian.

Interest in Music Promoted by Tri-M

Members of the Music Department belonging to Modern Music Masters are: Row 1: J. Allbritten, D. Ramsey, R. Bowland, J. Nelp, J. English. Row 2: A. Taylor, K. Hahn, D. Mitchell, M. Cole, J. Hopper, J. Elliott, M. Bullock, J. Zerbe, N. Atkinson, N. Beck. Row 3: C. Soames, J. Evans, B. Day, D. Davis, E. Adams, P. Smith, J. Smith, P. Huff, C. Boyer, M. Whitney. Row 4: E. Cowan, J. Brownlee, D. Thompson, M. Erlenbaugh, B. Scott, D. Jordan.

Modern Music Masters is an organization open only to those students who participate in the Band, Belles, or Choir. Before becoming a member of Tri-M, a person must pass a test, which includes learning the constitution, song, names of local officers, location of main offices, and chapter number. Each year Tri-M has an induction ceremony at which new members who meet the qualifications are inducted. This club has as its goal the promotion of high standards of music. The members elected as their officers Ronnie Bowland, president; Dale Ramsey, vice-president; Judy Nelp, secretary; John Allbritten, treasurer, and Janice English, historian.

After passing the Tri-M test, these members were inducted into the organization. Row 1: A. Ash, K. Dawalt, G. Greenwald, D. Goff. Row 2: T. Randolph, D. Scott, L. Dunton, J. Dunton, M. Beigh. Row 3: S. Zwickl, V. Crowden, S. Messersmith, E. Thurston, B. Hoover, K. Benner. Row 4: W. Pohlman, C. King, J. Rody, S. Ralstin, F. Jones, P. McKamey. Row 5: L. Darby, N. Smith, L. Hagen, S. Blinn, C. Cole, C. Garrett. Row 6: P. Wilson, J. Kreutzer, J. Toepfer, N. Geyer, D. Jones, A. Taylor.

"Paraphernalia" Provide Music, Color

Swing Choir members had a busy year, climaxed by a round of appearances for civic and social groups during the Christmas season. A few special events for which the group provided entertainment were the Man of the Year banquet, the State Cancer Society convention, and the Mother-Daughter social. The members also had featured roles in the Rodeo, the Christmas concert, and the Spring concert. Since Jerry Yentes was unable to participate in several programs, Ronnie Williams was a part-time member of the organization. Costumes for the girls were turquoise blue dresses and for the boys, white dinner jackets and dark trousers.

Besides their performances at local athletic contests, the Majorettes and Tigerettes appeared in special half-time shows at Ball State Teachers College and Butler University. The Tigerettes were led by a senior member, Nancy Reineke, and the Majorettes by Mary Whitney, a junior.

Singing brought great enjoyment to these members of the Swing Choir. Row 1: B. Day, M. Cole, N. Reineke, V. Crowden, C. Turley, E. Rommelfanger, S. Adkins, J. Nelp. Row 2: R. Williams, R. Bowland, J. Berger, T. Comerford, D. Jordan, P. Horst, J. Allbritten, C. Davidson. Pam Huff, center, is accompanist.

Many half-time shows were presented by the Tigerettes: C. Turley, L. Jackson, J. Evans, M. Overmyer, V. Crowden, J. Zerbe, N. Reineke, J. English, J. Nelp.

PHS Majorettes not only led the band, but also performed with batons at football and basketball games. They are Mary Whitney, Beth Holmes, Nyla Ayres, and Debi Groat.

PHS Club Members Work with Hands

Planning a spring trip was one of the projects of the Future Homemakers of America. Row 1: E. Boyd, B. Place, M. Everett, L. Bonney. Row 2: V. Ramer, R. Morris, J. Gallien, M. Gambrell, V. Chism, S. Eckelbarger, P. Ammerman. Row 3: K. Brown, R. Johnson, M. Myers, L. Rains, B. Miller, M. Packard, S. Shoemaker, D. Sopher.

Future Homemakers of America is a club for students on the home economics course. In this club the members learn about the domestic arts.

Students taking an art course may become members of the Art Club if they meet the necessary qualifications. This organization works on projects such as paper mache figures, oil paintings, water colors, and ceramics.

The High School Red Cross devoted much of its time to the residents of the County Home by giving them parties on special holidays. The members also participated in the Heart-Fund Drive.

Various Clubs Provide Service for School

At basketball games these members of C-21 sell refreshments. They are: Row 1: Mr. Donald Stone, sponsor; M. Hight, S. Shoemaker, P. Hatton, M. Myers. Row 2: A. Wahlig, T. Fox, T. Gaunt, T. Lee, T. Rogers. Row 3: D. Felthoff, J. Moore, S. Kile, M. Trexler, R. Oakes, G. Miller.

With the C-21 Club on the job, football and basketball fans always had refreshments when they wanted them. During football season, coffee and hot dogs were sold to warm up frozen spectators. At basketball games fans cooled off with cokes.

The Industrial Club is for boys in shop classes. The members meet as a club to discuss and learn more about the present and future opportunities in the field of industrial arts.

Mr. Noel Davis is in charge of the safety patrol of which Richard Garver was captain this year. As a reward for their services, the boys were honored at a picnic sponsored by the Chicago Motor Club and also were recognized on Award Day.

Industrial Club members are: Row 1: D. Graham, S. Exmeyer, R. Sparks, J. Barnhart, C. Marks, J. McQuinn, D. Sanders, L. Miller, T. Friend. Row 2: R. Garver, R. Sopher, R. Watkins, D. LaCoss, D. Eiler, T. Brechbiel, M. Cattin, T. O'Connell, Mr. Bruce Milburn, sponsor. Row 3: Mr. James Zielinski, adviser; R. Miller, T. Banks, G. White, I. Stout, B. DeLawter, D. Morecraft, D. Cooley, J. Biggs, K. Scott.

Boys and Girls Participate in Athletic Clubs

Winners of major letters are eligible for the P-Club. Row 1: L. Burdine, S. Engelage, B. Smith, D. Watson, C. Marks, E. Cowan, J. Stout, T. Comerford, R. Jones, J. Hentgen, L. Minns. Row 2: D. Weideman, M. Hoover, J. Henry, D. Jordan, B. Buffington, B. Shuey, P. Cutler, G. Joseph, P. Walker, R. McNeil, D. Buzbee, G. Hammond. Row 3: J. Hughes, R. Schubert, R. Conklin, J. Wilson, R. Kerns, D. Teal, S. Shaffer, M. Joseph, R. Musgrave, G. Stewart, B. Thurston, S. Beverly, K. Grether. Row 4: J. Ratliff, D. Hentgen, J. Blackman, J. Dunton, D. Hunt, M. Eikenberry, T. Chapin, R. Mooney, J. Yentes, K. Day, H. Masiuk, B. Rockenbaugh, D. Hartleroad, J. Baber, J. King, S. Eder.

The purpose of the P-Club is to create and encourage an interest in athletics. At club meetings the boys discussed various sports and IHSAA rules. Sponsors are Mr. Biddle and the other athletic coaches.

The Girls' Athletic Association is open to all high school girls who are interested in sports. The club members participate in athletic activities such as basketball, tumbling, bowling, volley ball, and deck tennis. For participation in each sport, the girls receive points which are the basis of the awards given at the end of the year.

Facing a tough "induction" are these new P-Club members: Steve Engelage, Terry Hughes, Bill Buffington, and Mike Hoover.

Officers of GAA, preparing an unknown victim for membership, are Judy Nelp, treasurer; Clo Giver, vice-president; Nancy Atkinson, recording secretary; Janice English, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Sullivan, sponsor, and Beverly Black, president.

Hi-Y Groups Promote Community Aid

Juniors and seniors comprised the Senior Hi-Y group this year. Row 1: B. McCormick, J. Stout, A. Denny, R. Stitt, S. Beverly. Row 2: D. Hendricks, B. Lennon, R. Williams, D. Hinz, J. Wolf. Row 3: R. Jones, J. Allbritten, R. Rassner, R. Garver, M. Donaldson, T. Schram. Row 4: M. Erlenbaugh, K. Dawalt, J. Langdon, L. Morguson, M. Eikenberry, D. Eckerley.

Two school clubs dedicated both to community aid and self-improvement are the Senior and Sophomore Hi-Y clubs. Besides collecting for the polio fund, Senior Hi-Y members attended a spring conference. Members strive to better themselves, their school, and their community by working toward higher moral standards, clean speech, and better scholarship.

Y-Teens Combine Service with Fun

Senior members of the Y-Teens were in charge of the induction of new members. Row 1: A. Taylor, N. Ayres, K. Volpert, H. Christiansen, C. Turley, J. Dobler, V. Siegfred, M. Bullock, S. Hemrick B. WE'RE BRINGING PROGRESS TO NORTHERN INDIANA!

Wherever a GAS line goes . . . PROGRESS automatically follows. GAS is the miracle ingredient that awakens industry to its full potential. Dependable GAS is a versatile, low-cost fuel for commercial establishments. Silent, clean GAS opens a new door to better living through heating, water heating, clothes drying, cooking and refrigeration. GAS means more plants, more jobs, and more wages. And, that all adds up to PROGRESS and prosperity for the people living in the territory we serve!

Having Kept In Step

Fading into the distance with their footsteps marking time, yearbook chiefs Bunny Pier and Ruth Angle, with their adviser Mrs. Keith, bid "au revoir" to a year of hard work and even heartier fun.

The 1350 hours of this school year of 1964 have come to an end. We have many happy memories to always remember. This yearbook is only a sampling of these memories of PHS students "Keeping In Step."

We owe tremendous thanks to many people. First of all, we wish to thank our entire staff for their effort and hard work. We say "thanks" to Mr. Charles Mueller of the Ropkey Engraving Company, who patiently assisted us with the layout; to Mr. Jack Bundy of the S. K. Smith Company, who advised us on our cover design and color; to Mr. and Mrs. William Manmiller of the Sentinel Printing Company and "all of the gang over thar'," especially Mr. Earl Winters, our compositor. We sincerely appreciate Mr. Winters' understanding patience when we broke the bad news about incorrect page numbering.

We thank Mr. Philip Fox for all of his much-asked-for and much-used advice, as the circulation adviser and close friend of the staff. Homeroom 216 also deserves our thanks for their aid in circulation matters, a complicated, but well-done job.

We extend a very heartfelt thanks to Mr. Earl Delph and the entire faculty for their patience and cooperation when we interrupted the scheduled classes.

We owe a very special thanks to Mr. John Waltz, whose wit and humor carried us through many a long, weary day of picture taking. On the third try, we finally got the underclass pictures completed. Mr. Waltz was more than worth all the cookies we had to feed him to keep him happy. Thanks again to Mr. Waltz.

We also owe a deep debt of gratitude to Sally Hemrick, who worked "above and beyond the call of duty." She helped us with many extra chores which needed only her special touch.

Especially, we owe our deepest thanks, which words can not express, to our adviser, Mrs. Russell Keith. Her understanding advice, never-failing assistance, hard work, and ability to keep us "on the ball," we deeply appreciate and will never forget. We will miss her very much when we leave these halls of ivy.

Jerry,
Just think, next year you won't be able to tease me about my penmanship! But if you see me like summer, we really have to a real private Jury!
